

An Alternative Solution for Resource Management

Any CIO knows that hiring full-time developers can be costly, especially when there is an immediate need to complete many projects and internal bandwidth is low. When your budget cannot accommodate the burden of adding staff, consider Logic's managed application development services and dedicated teams to get the job done.

By hiring Logic's experts you can control expenses while maintaining a full workload, to stay on time and on budget. We will work with you to structure a team and process methodology that gives you the level of project control and accountability you need.

CONSULTANTS, DEVELOPERS, DESIGNERS
THINKERS

Managed Application Development Services

Tell us the project, timeline, and budget, and we'll take it from there. We employ professionals with technical savvy in all aspects of the application development life cycle, including programmers, project managers, business analysts, user interface experts, integration and database developers, and more.

Our rigorous and proven methodology involves a regular communication and reporting cadence. Our teams use professional project collaboration and issue tracking tools to ensure nothing slips through the cracks.

Establishing a managed services partnership with Logic also eliminates the financial guesswork normally associated with time and materials development. An annual contract with Logic promises controlled costs to minimize your investment risk.

Dedicated Teams

When you need to have more oversight on a long-term project, Logic can supply your company with a dedicated team of resources who work onsite at your location, off-site, or offshore (or any combination of the above). This versatility allows us to have a highly scalable relationship. We can start with a small partnership that grows with your needs, or vice versa.

We have staffed dedicated teams for companies in many industries including:

- Healthcare
- Automotive
- Online Promotions and Sweepstakes
- Hospitality
- Travel
- Education
- Fulfillment
- Marketing

Technology Experts

We have a long and rich history of providing technical teams to build and maintain web and mobile applications. Our programming capabilities include:

- .Net, PHP, Java, C, C++, Perl, Ruby on Rails, CSS, HTML, HTML5, XML
- iOS, Android, Windows Mobile, BlackBerry
- SQL, MySQL, Oracle databases
- Drupal, Joomla, DotNetNuke, WordPress
- and so much more

Logic Delivers

Custom application development is what we've done since our founding. Contact us today to find out how we can help you eliminate resource management challenges with dedicated development teams or managed application development services.

